

Uncontrollable Love

Daniel Cade

A twenty year old man named Ryan goes to a nightclub one night to find someone, who to him is deeply attractive. They both click magnetizing themselves together as they go through a relationship like no other, experiencing a love so strong. They both share a passion for poems as they communicate in rhyme. Their love is overshadowed by evil that tries in more than one way to end them. They find out later on that they are in fact cousins but does it end their relationship. Neither one of them knew each other as a tragedy took place. Will their love be able to withstand blows and earthquakes as they attempt to rupture? Are they destined to be together or will it be too much for their love?
